3. General

A. In FY 1968 our overall costs increased by 1% and the number of items processed increased by 3% over FY 1967. The cost per item of work completed was reduced from $1.48 in FY 67 to $1.47 in FY 68. 25X1A

25X1A (B) On 7 August [REDACTED] and I visited NSA in order to learn firsthand how they met their dissemination problems. [REDACTED] described their dissemination procedures and their studies on the Content Control Code (CCC). He was followed by [REDACTED] who described their Signal Center/Dissemination procedures. NSA traffic can be placed in four categories: (1) Administrative; (2) Collateral; (3) Product; and, (4) Raw Material. Product is described as that which is issued to the consumer, i. e., the results of their intercept efforts. It appears that NSA's use of CCC will be directed primarily toward effecting dissemination of their product to the intelligence community, with little if any application to dissemination within NSA. While I do not wish to state NSA's official position re CCC, it is my impression that they are doubtful as to its application on their traffic except as it relates to inter-Agency dissemination, and that it appears inapplicable to collateral traffic. We will follow up with [REDACTED] and Agency units concerned in an effort to determine the extent to which CCC may be applicable to Agency staff cables.
